

Buckles boosts graduate training programme

25th March 2010

Buckles is seeking to increase the intake of graduates to its award winning graduate training and recruitment programme.

Launched in 2003, the Buckles graduate training and recruitment programme has produced 56 graduates who are now fully fledged independent financial advisers and based at Buckles' Rhyl headquarters.

Now, the firm is keen to expand the programme dramatically. Nigel Speirs, Executive Chairman says:

"Most of our existing graduates have a connection with North Wales and we are eager that this continues. We would like to recruit from local universities or to recruit students who have gone further a field to study and now want to move back to North Wales.

"The rewards are considerable and a career as an IFA is as attractive as accountancy and law."

Although, the programme takes three years to complete, trainees are able to advise clients after the first year.

Buckles have taken 6 graduates onto the programme this January and a further 4 will start in April. We plan to recruit a further 12 throughout the year.

The next intake date for recruitment is 5th July so any graduates who would like to be considered should send their CVs in to Mrs A Jones or e-mail recruitment@buckles.ltd.uk
